Dear Bob:

I do hope my sending the book to the wrong address will not prevent your getting it. I am sure that it appeared I had forgotten about the promise I made to you when, in fact, I had thought about it many times but always when I was not near my desk. Please let me know if you do not receive the package, and we will be glad to send you another.

We have all been thrilled by the announcement of the Church's victory in obtaining government recognition. Certainly, this must mean a bright new day for the Church in Greece. I do hope someone as capable as yourself will be found as a replacement when you leave. Do not feel that you must answer this letter but do let us keep in contact with you as the work progresses.

Fraternally yours,

John Allen Chalk
